

NEW LITERATURE

One brochure, seven iconic brands...

Michelmersh Brick Holdings PLC, Britain's Brick Specialists, have launched their new collection of brochures. Designed with our customers in mind they showcase the individuality and creativity of each of the individual companies while pulling together the combined strength of the group. Colourful, comprehensive and attractive each brochure provides all the information on our standard range of bricks providing inspirational project photography and clear technical information.

Frank Hanna, Group Commercial Director, "Our new brochures are an excellent source of information for our whole business, they should however be viewed as a starting point and an inspirational tool for designers and architects because at the core of our business is the flexibility to discuss individual needs and create bespoke products in both colour and size."
